

Love's Daily Prayer

This is a prayer of acceptance of love. To love thyself as perfect, whole and complete. To love thyself as God loves you, for to have faith in yourself, is to have faith in God. To love thyself, is to love God. It is a prayer to open yourself to the answers within, ever connected to and answered in companionship with the radiant resonant light of Divine Guiding Presence.

Today,

May my heart be filled with the profound Love from which I was created.

May I fully accept all answers to be clearly revealed to me and all needs met.

*May I relax in the knowing that for every step I take today
You are taking ninety-nine steps for my benefit.*

*May I accept Love, from myself and others,
and be filled with all of the joys this life gifts me.*

And may I be of service to others today and empowered by the radiant light of Love, Grace, Mercy and Compassionate Wisdom from which I was created to live and be.

Now rest for a moment on the powerful words you just put forth and let the energy they carry, flow in and through you. Then go about your day's tasks and notice any messages, answers, or inner knowing that may arise. And when it does, no matter how small, say "thank you" within yourself, knowing that indeed for every one step you take, God takes 99 steps for your benefit.

* If you choose to do this prayer at the end of the day, reflect briefly on the day, give thanks, and then set the intention of the night's dreams: "God, Jesus, Higher Self, I relax myself in your presence and give thanks for today. May any and all answers of benefit to me now, be revealed to me tonight and may I wake refreshed."
